MERCURY SHOWS SLIGHT RISE BUT COLD CONTINUES

Two Fires in County Fought With Difficulty in Low Temperature

RESTAURANT IS RAZED

Generosity of Proprietors is Aid in Saving Their Lives

While the middle west shivered in the backwash, the great tidal wave of bitter cold lashed the eastern board with unabated fury.

Maine and Vermont were in the path of a howling blizzard. In New York City, four deaths were attributed to the intense cold, while fire took the toll of three lives in a tenement house.

The nation's death toll was expected to mount well above the century mark today as additional deaths were reported in rural sections.

Although most sections of eastern Pennsylvania remained in the throes of zero and sub-zero temperatures, the mercury in Philadelphia rose to 7 above as a brilliant sun alleviated the sting of the piercing cold.

Meanwhile, the eastern area counted six deaths. Scores of persons were made homeless as a result of fires.

Sledding, automobiles, and falls on ice coated sidewalks continued to cause many injuries. Frozen airbrakes and doors that refused to open delayed Philadelphia's trolleys, airplanes were grounded, trains continued arriving from the West late, and buses were behind schedule due to snowdrifts and traffic conditions.

Scattered groups of motorists continued marooned throughout the western part of Pennsylvania, finding icy highways too hazardous to attempt to drive.

Elementary schools in the midtown Pittsburgh section was suspended because of the extreme cold.

Rivers and streams were frozen from shore to shore and fear was expressed that floods may result if it rains or melts rapidly.

YES! IT'S WARMER

Yes! It is warmer today. According to thermometer readings it was just six degrees warmer this morning at six o'clock than it was at the same hour, yesterday.

The mercury yesterday morning stood at zero and this morning it had started upward and had managed through a great deal of effort to reach six degrees above the zero mark.

Yesterday with the mercury down well below the zero mark, two fires occurred. One was at the Spanish Coffee House on the Lackawanna Trail, seven miles north of Doylestown, which was destroyed and the other blaze damaged a frame bungalow at Oxford Valley.

Mr. Mercury is still "down in the depths," hovering between the marks of eight and six from midnight until six o'clock this morning.

He did not however play the trick of the night previous, when he swung down 42 degrees in a period of eight hours. It was a different story during last night. He was "low" to begin with, staying at eight degrees above zero from midnight until four o'clock this morning. He went slightly lower at five o'clock, however, striking the seven mark, and at six a. m. he was down to six. This was six degrees higher than yesterday at the same hour, when he reached the zero mark on the thermometer at Schmidt's greenhouses, Otter street.

The readings last evening at 10 and 11 o'clock were nine above zero.

With no melting throughout yesterday, when the intense cold continued accompanied by a cold wind, the highways in instances where still covered with snow, proved difficult for motorists to negotiate, care being required to get out of the ruts, when passing other machines.

Many a motorist is forced to arise earlier these mornings, foreseeing difficulty in starting the family car. Batteries that are "low" mean trouble, and with freezing of brakes, and general stiffness of the mechanism travel is proving anything but easy.

The Delaware River still remains open, and cakes of ice are floating therein.

Attendance at the local schools today, is reported as better than yesterday. Classes in all buildings are being maintained on schedule.

Firemen from Plumsteadville, Doylestown and Dublin were summoned to Pipersville yesterday to fight the fire.

Newtown Man Overcome Working in Trenton Garage

A Newtown man along with a resident of Trenton, narrowly escaped being overcome yesterday by carbon monoxide gas while working in a Trenton garage.

Elmer Davis, 28, Newtown, and J. H. Slotterbeck, 24, 226 East Hanover street, Trenton, were overcome while working on an automobile. The men are now in McKinley Hospital, Trenton, where they are reported improved.

The two men are employed as automobile mechanics. They were working under a car in a repair shop with the engine of the machine running when they were rendered unconscious.

Fellow employees found them lying upon the floor and carried them out into the air. After being partly revived they were rushed to the hospital in one of the company's machines. Other mechanics working in the same room were not affected by the poisonous fumes. Slotterbeck and Davis were working near the exhaust pipe of the car when they were overcome.

LIFE OF ENGLAND'S NEW KING HAS BEEN COLORFUL

From Time of His Youth He Has Kept Pace With His Beloved People

ALWAYS DEMOCRATIC

(Herewith is the second installment of the series by James Francis, dealing with the colorful life history of the new ruler of the British Empire, King Edward VIII. The career of the 41-year-old monarch is taken up in detail, from the cradle to the throne, which he dramatically ascended upon the death of his father, George V., on Monday night.)

By James Francis
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1936, by I. N. S.)

When, in June, 1894, the majestic gates of the White Lodge at Richmond resounded to the gusty bellow of the newborn and those about him knew that here lay the heir-in-waiting to the British throne, it was perhaps significant that the news was proclaimed to the nation through the home secretary. The latter was a young man named Herbert H. Asquith, who later was to march with destiny to a deathless prestige as diplomat and statesman.

The Victorian influence remained dominant but the commoner was coming into his own in the political life of the Empire and the great Queen, always aware of any change in the pulse beat of her people, was among the first to realize that the old order was over. So, perhaps as a concession to public taste, it was Asquith who telegraphed the tidings to the Lord Mayor of London for proclamation:

"Her Royal Highness, the Duchess of York, was safely delivered of a son at ten o'clock."

Yet it was characteristic of the nation's beloved "David" that when 41 years later the old King died at Sandringham just before midnight on Monday, he moved with typical decision.

One of his first official acts was to telegraph the news in person to the Lord Mayor, the message reading:

"I am deeply grieved to inform you that my beloved father, the King, passed away peacefully at 11:55 tonight."

He signed the proclamation, "Edward, R. I." and thus, with a few, swift strokes of the pen, became monarch over 400,000,000 people, in fact as well as in name. The next morning, when he was on his way to London for his formal ascension to the throne, he was not the formal and stately progress so dear to the old monarchical tradition.

Modern, forward-looking and conscious that time is now the master of all, Edward VIII, flew by plane to the ceremony. To be royal was once enough. Nowadays, a monarch must keep pace with his people, and in the case of the new King, it should be remembered that, for 41 years, he has been trained to be the "typical Englishman."

He was, in fact, brought up in the greatest simplicity, with emphasis upon all that was best in the tradition of English family life.

Tutors were not panderers and sycophants; indeed, under explicit instructions, they were almost harsh with the royal heir in their efforts to make him a man fit to rule his people. He expected no especial consideration—and received none—at Osborne on the fleet, at Oxford and in the World War.

There is even a legend that a boy at Osborne, perhaps feeling class-conscious, resented the young Prince's unguarded reference to "my father, the King," and a fist fight ensued.

Thus, the simplicity, the "humaneness" that was to set this man apart from all the royalty since the beginning of time, began to manifest itself early.

"A regular guy," was the succinct but altogether respectful estimate of the engineer of the royal train when the then Prince of Wales made his notable visit to America in 1924.

But what would you? Her "common touch" was his great grandmother's

KEEP THE RECORD STRAIGHT!

(New York American, January 23, 1936)

Business gets stronger as it sheds the New Deal crutches. Instead of the calamities which Communistic politicians predicted would follow the scrapping of the NRA, business confidence and volume have GREATLY INCREASED.

The foretold injuries to labor, following the notable Schechter case decision, DID NOT MATERIALIZE.

As a matter of fact, the average hourly wages of labor not only held their own but ADVANCED slightly during the year, AFTER the outlawing of the National Recovery Administration.

Likewise, apologists for the New Deal argued that the elimination of regimentation of business men under the NRA would result in a SMASHUP of business ethics.

THE RECORD IS PRECISELY THE REVERSE.

H. J. Kenner, General Manager of the Better Business Bureau of New York City, in his current annual report, reveals that the predicted breakdown of fair practice after the demise of the NRA DID NOT OCCUR.

On the contrary, left to their own devices, New York stores and business firms, according to Mr. Kenner, RAISED THEIR SELLING STANDARDS IN 1935 and inaccurate statements in advertisements were reduced in number.

Mr. Kenner went to the heart of the subject, explaining why it is futile to delegate the problem of raising the moral tone of business to bureaucrats at Washington.

"Progress in this direction," he points out, "is best made by voluntary, individual effort and impartial, organized action.

"Experience has taught that coercion and compulsion may force changes without working cures in the correction of practices which undermine confidence.

"Fair practice victories are SELDON WON BY CONVINCING MEN AGAINST THEIR WILL.

"For that reason, the work of the bureau has remained temperate and constructive, with main reliance placed upon facts, and upon the respect for truth and fairness which most business men have."

* * *

It is important to keep the record straight. Contrary to the false prognoses of the fake economic medicine men at Washington, the clearing away of the New Deal superstructure has release new and robust impulses FOR THOROUGHGOING AMERICAN RECOVERY.

Thus, by sloughing off the cancerous growths of the New Deal, THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT has been making decisive contributions to far-reaching economic recuperation.

WPA MEN NOT PAID FOR 7 WEEKS AT JANNEY CLOSED BY BLOCKED ROADS

Fifteen Have Not Received One Penny, They State

IS CAUSE OF HARDSHIP RECEIVES COMPLAINTS

Some of the men employed on the WPA project at Janney are bitterly assailing those in charge, because they state they have not received any money for the past seven weeks. In all, it is said, there are 15 men who have not received one penny of remuneration for the labor they have given, during the past seven weeks at Janney.

At the WPA office in Norristown, it was stated: "All information comes from our Philadelphia office."

The 15 men, it is alleged, are part of the group of 200 working on WPA Project 3173. Some of these men live in Cornwells Heights, Newportville and Bristol.

When the men inquire of their foremen as to the delay, they are told: "You'll get it, if you'll have a little patience."

Apparently the lack of an efficient system is the cause for the complaint. The men to whom money is still owing have received a number of notices transferring them to other projects. These notices, it is alleged, have come through instead of the payroll slips and thus due to the fact that there have not been any payroll slips, of course there has not been any payroll January 13th, some received payroll

January 13th, some received payroll and still no money has been forthcoming.

Only when an emergency rises such as that of a physician who is not able to reach a distressed family with a need ill or the need for coal to keep the fire going are roads other than the key highways opened.

The County Superintendent made it very plain that he considers the education of school children an emergency situation and that something should be done about having the schools opened as quickly as possible. It is possible that there are quite a few rural schools in the county which have been closed since Monday that are not open yet.

"Because so many complaints have come into my office, and because I can do nothing about it, I feel that the people of the county should know the facts in the situation," said Mr. Hoffman.

The men are of the opinion that the mix-up is all due to lack of the proper clerical system, and just why transfers sending them to other jobs came through, instead of the payroll slips, is more than they can understand.

Newspaper Publishers Assemble at Harrisburg

HARRISBURG, Jan. 24—(INS)—Pennsylvania's Proprietors of the Fourth Estate assembled here today for consideration of the coming year's editorial and business problems at sessions of the 11th annual convention of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association.

As registration of delegates began, convention committee estimated that more than 300 publishers and other newspaper representatives would attend the two-day meeting, expected in the light of economic and social changes to be one of the most eventful in the association's history.

Listed as the principal speaker of today's general session was Barry Faris, editor of International News Service, who was to talk on "Behind the Scenes in Getting the News." He was to be introduced by J. L. Stackhouse, Easton, retiring president of the association, following reports from officers and regional directors.

Before swinging into more specialized discussion groups, the publishers were to hear a report of the PNPA committee on editorial affairs, by E. H. Sweeney, Greensburg, and several other addresses, including that of Jerome D. Barnum, president of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association on "Problems ahead."

A mechanical conference for presentation of new developments in newspaper publishing were the highlights of the afternoon program.

Discussion of the Federal Social Security program and its effect on newspapers, selection of officers and of next year's convention site and the annual convention banquet were to round out the final sessions tomorrow.

MORRISVILLE FATHERS NAME OFFICERS FOR '36

Neal Nolan Chosen President; Address Given by Joseph Sleeper, Chester

PUPILS GIVE NUMBERS

MORRISVILLE, Jan. 24—Featured by a program which was enjoyed by the largest crowd that ever attended one of the meetings, the Morrisville Fathers Association conducted a mid-winter open meeting in the high school auditorium.

Late last night the long queue began forming, and all today it wound out St. Stephen's entrance to the Houses of Parliament and beyond the shadow of massive Victoria Tower.

Prior to the program a short business meeting was held when the officers for the year were elected. Joseph Sleeper, of Chester, who some weeks ago addressed Morrisville Rotary Club, gave his popular address, "The Judge Said—What Shall I Do With The Boy?"

The first part of the entertainment was the presentation of a "Children's Radio Hour" by pupils of the local schools, under the direction of Miss Margaret Watkins, a member of the high school faculty, and this was one of the most enjoyable parts of the whole program. It depicted the usual amateur hour, and John Summer, Jr., acted as master of ceremonies.

The program opened with a selection by the Commanders, consisting of Anthony Thornley, Harry Pope, Evans White, Jack Preston, Philip Krier, William McGowan and Alexis Gatti.

Other delightful numbers included: Song, Samuel Alger; harmonica solo, George Fenton; song, Virginia North, Ruth Myers, Betty Sherrard, Susannah Taylor, Betty Nice; tap dance, Shirley Unger and Grace Green; piano solo, Harry Piro; courtesy play, Reed Pratt, Anthony Widman, Thomas Sawyer, Marvin Young, Jr., Martha Whitaker, Susannah Taylor and Richard Wolf; sketch, Arthur Glantz, Philip Krier and Anthony Thornley; reading, Frank Maust; song, Howard and Calvin Marsh; corne duet, William May and Charles Brelsford; piano solo, Walter Safr; vocal solo, James Gould, Miss Vivian Romine and Mrs. Clarence Paxson were accompanists, and others who took part in the amateur hour were: Eddie Gilmore, James Moffett, Harry Miller, Jack Barber, Lester Stone,

CITIZEN EINSTEIN?

Dr. Albert Einstein has received his first American citizenship papers and will be eligible for his final papers in October, 1938. The law requires an applicant for final citizenship papers to show that he has lived in the United States for five years and has possessed first papers for at least two years. Dr. Einstein arrived in the United States in October, 1933, and received his first papers in Trenton, N. J., a few days ago.

So, in October, 1938, Dr. Einstein, accompanied by character witnesses (who ought not to be difficult to obtain) may appear before a United States commissioner who presumably will inform a federal judge that one Albert Einstein has fulfilled the requirements of the naturalization law. It seems safe to predict that the judge will find no objection to admitting the applicant to all the rights and privileges of American citizenship.

This prospect, no doubt, will cause shaking of heads in the nation which once gloried in the achievements of such sons as Einstein, but which now casts them out. Nordic Aryan supermen may entertain grave doubts about the future of an America which admits such outcasts to citizenship. On our own side of the water, the Einstein incident may lead to some self-approving oratory about this glorious refuge for the oppressed. But men of more reflective minds may muse on the good fortune of a nation which, in the ordinary routine of its laws, can enable future historians to refer to a certain twentieth century figure, as "the American Einstein."

BIG CITIES' FOOD

The New York Times finds that New York City has 100,000 stores which sell 7,000,000,000 pounds of food a year to the city's 7,000,000 people. It suggests a simple way of arriving at the consumption, by weight, in any city. Just multiply the population by 1,000. In Detroit, it becomes 1,500,000,000 pounds, 750,000 tons.

Everybody, including infants, consumes, after an allowance for waste and for the dog and the cat, a little less than three pounds a day. It doesn't appear that the babies hold down the average much. They're growing and demand to be fed often. A quart of milk weighs two pounds.

Realization of a big city's huge food consumption will cause no more wonder why sometimes the farms produce too much and suffer on account of low prices received for it. No doubt, if all had all they need, there would be considerably less danger of overproduction.

Big news from Washington is showing that the great problem of making the adjustment hasn't been solved yet. That Old Reliable, the law of supply and demand, will take care of it if the people in the cities are prosperous enough to make the demand what it ought to be.

THIRD WARD RANGERS
DROP TO THIRD PLACE

The Third Ward Rangers blew a first dowd to lead to the Young Men's Association quintet and dropped to third place in the first half circuit close last night in the first game of the night. Final tabulations were: Y. M. A., 32; Third Ward, 21.

It was the third session which brought disaster to the Pikers. Although they possessed a lead at the first half they were held to a singularity in the start of the second half. While their defense tightened, the Y's offensive players began to hit the cords from all angles to have a 22-11 lead at the end of the third quarter.

Dickie Brown was the instigator of the Y's rally. Held scoreless the first half, Brown spun five two-pointers and a charity shot through the cords in the second half. Bobby Rue also woke up in the latter half of the contest and made a quartet of twin-pointers to bring his total to five during the contest.

The Rangers made but six field goals during the entire tilt and were led in scoring by Pete Bornice, who connected for two field goals and six touch downs.

The Pikers have signed Parker and Morrissey, the Burlington lads, for the second half race. The Moose have Butch DeBoskey and Ernie Birchenhoff, of Trenton. St. Ann's has come through with Maley, McDonagh, and McCoy, of Bordentown. The Hibernians have signed Vaugh Donnelly and Joe Matlack, of Trenton, with the Y. M. A. signing Alex Barcalow and Whitey Fitton, of Trenton.

ODD FELLOWS CAPTURE FIRST-HALF HONORS

It rained field goals last night in the Italian Mutual Aid hall as the Odd Fellows captured the first half championship of the Bristol Amateur Basketball League, trouncing the St. Ann's A. A. five, 53-19, in an uninteresting match. It was the tenth straight defeat for St. Ann's.

Twenty-six double-deckers were sunk through the net by the Oddies. This is a new scoring record for the loop. Bobby Weideman and Frank Frankovic were the chief scorers with eight and seven twin-pointers respectively. The Oddies had little trouble in amassing the victory, their eighth of the campaign against two defeats.

For the first period of the game, the Saints showed a little fight and spirit and managed to keep within striking distance of the Odd Fellows' count. But when the Oddies began to put "sleepers" through the cords it was just a matter of time. At the beginning of the third session, Weideman hit the net for four field goals within the course of two minutes.

Every player in Black and White uniform shared in the scoring orgy. Weideman and Frankovic scored 30 points between them. "Spade" Spadaccino made seven points to lead the losing aggregation.

PRAGUE (INS)—What one may call a "master shot" was fired by Anton Brudisch, huntsman near Komjatice in Slovakia. Anton fired one shot from his hunting rifle and hit and killed two hares, hit and wounded a farmer, the latter's wife, two cows and one goat.

Later, he spoke even more ruefully of the Prince's lungs as "large and vigorous," indicating that perhaps the heir to the throne had spent a few sleepless nights at the White Lodge. But the jovial twinkle, for which he was well known, was in Edward's eye at the time and, if he missed out on a few hours of royal rest, there was no doubt that the occasion was one of quiet rejoicing.

So was the christening that followed a few weeks later in the historic gold bowl, transported to the scene from Windsor Castle. Beyond the fact that the Archbishop of Canterbury officiated and that the water came from the river Jordan, the event was without ostentation.

The heir-in-waiting was given a profusion of names, but to the old Queen, who loved him as she would her own, he was always "David."

Her official choice, however, was the name Albert, but others were added with much profligacy. The official name was Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David—Edward, to please the grandfather; Albert, for the Queen; George to please the mother and Andrew Patrick David, to please Scotland, Ireland and Wales respectively.

Here, then, was a child who, somehow, seemed fated from the first to please everybody. How well he has succeeded is all too definitely known.

destructive blaze at the Spanish Coffee House.

Their generosity in accommodating two youthful, nonpaying travelers proved the means of saving the lives of Mr. and Mrs. David McKee and a waitress when their "Spanish Coffee House" was destroyed by fire early yesterday with a loss of $15,000.

Two young men, who sought shelter from Wednesday night's cold at the roadhouse, saw the flames on the first floor of the place and jumped from their second-story bedroom window to the ground. Awakening the McKees with shouts, they got a ladder down which the couple and the waitress climbed from their bedrooms to safety.

In the Croydon section Tuesday, two W. P. A. workers were laid off, and the rest of a large group went on a strike. The bosses appealed to the Sheriff of Bucks county and other police, but were informed that "their own party," and not the business of the Sheriff.

In the midst of all this, Philadelphia's daily boondoggling excursions of road workers continue. Tuesday in one section, imported workers were shoveling the snow out of roadside ditches so that more dirt could be taken by the Sheriff.

Notice to Owners of Dogs

WHEREAS, there is reason to believe that the disease of rabies or hydrophobia exists or is likely to occur in the Borough of Bristol by reason of the fact that a number of dogs within the Townships adjacent to said Borough have recently been bitten by a dog suffering from said disease, and the nature of the disease is such that all dogs within the limits of said Borough must be suspected of being capable of spreading the same, and the welfare and the safety of the citizens require that all dogs within said Borough which have been so bitten shall immediately be killed, and all other dogs for the present be quarantined.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, CLIFFORD L. ANDERSON, Burgess of the Borough of Bristol, by virtue of the authority in me vested as such Burgess under the law, in pursuance of the provisions under an Ordinance of the Borough of Bristol entitled "An Ordinance Granting Authority to the Burgess to Issue his Proclamation Enforcing the Ordinance Controlling the Running at Large of Dogs within the Borough Limits" enacted the Ninth day of January A. D. 1882, do hereby proclaim and order that all dogs actually bitten by or which have been fighting with a mad dog, or exposed to the said disease of rabies, shall immediately be killed by the owners therof, and in case the owner of any such dog shall neglect or refuse to put such dog to death immediately, legal proceedings against such owner for such neglect or refusal will at once be instituted and such dog ordered to be killed as provided by the Act of Assembly of April 1, 1884, P. L. 161.

That every dog that has been in contact with or close proximity to a mad dog, or exposed to the disease of rabies, although not known to have actually been bitten, shall be strictly quarantined on the premises of the owner and shall be muzzled with a well fitting muzzle which shall effectively prevent biting and shall be tied up, chained and safely secured by a heavy collar around the neck attached to a substantial chain, which shall be safely fastened to a secure place, and shall be so tied up, muzzled and secured for a period of one hundred days from the date hereof.

All dogs within the Borough of Bristol are hereby declared to be in the state of quarantine and must be strictly confined or firmly secured on the premises of their owners, and not allowed to run at large or enter upon the streets, lanes or highways of the said Borough; PROVIDED, HOWEVER, that dogs which have not been exposed to said disease may be permitted upon the said streets or highways when led by a leash and muzzled with a well fitting muzzle which will effectively prevent biting.

This quarantine shall remain in force for one hundred days from the date hereof unless sooner removed by me or other competent authority.

The word dog as used in this proclamation shall be taken and construed to include not only dogs but bitches as well.

Owners of dogs are notified and warned that a disregard of this proclamation or the permitting of dogs to run at large within the said Borough without being led by a leash and properly muzzled may lead to the destruction of their dogs, and that they themselves may be proceeded against in accordance with law and the above cited Ordinance.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the corporate seal of the Borough of Bristol this Twenty-first day of January A. D. 1936.

CLIFFORD L. ANDERSON,
Burgess of the Borough
of Bristol.

Attest:

WILLIAM J. LEFFERTS,
Secretary.
